13. Billing and Payment for Services relating to Microsoft Azure services

- 13.1. All figures quoted are, unless otherwise stated, estimated values. Actual billing may vary based on the consumption and or usage of the products and services. The more accurate the initial information, the more accurate the estimated costs will be, however month to month billing may still vary.
- 13.2. As an example: a service which is billed hourly may, in February generate up to 672 Hours of usage (24 Hours X 28 Days) However the same product used in March may generate up to 744 Hours (24 Hours X 31 Days). The billing in the month with more hours of usage will therefore be more than that in the month with fewer hours of usage.

- 13.3. If the service is provisioned part way through or is turned off for a period during a billing period, this can affect the hours consumed for that period. Storage is charged for regardless of whether the relevant services are running.
- 13.4. Any services added over and above what is specified in the Azure estimated figures will be charged for based on said services billing parameters (Per User, GB, Hour, Month etc.). If Customer is unsure of the costs related to running a service on Azure, please contact Supplier for an estimate.
- 13.5. Customer will be billed for not only the Services arising from a COF but also for Services arising from Self-subscription.
